Your Goals
as a CranioSacral Therapist:

Professional ethics

As a practitioner of the therapy taught at the Upledger Institute, you are expected to adhere to the highest professional standards. Among these are: a commitment to providing therapy for all individuals without discrimination, seeking opportunities for further education to enhance therapeutic skills, respecting each client's right to privacy, and taking responsibility to avoid causing physical, mental, or emotional harm to yourself, clients, and colleagues

Maintaining certified status

Upledger Institute International (UII) requires every certified CranioSacral Therapy therapist to participate in at least 24 hours of continuing education organized by the Institute every four years. Such skill enhancement can take place through participation in courses (attendance, assistantship), mentoring programs, symposiums, and scientific conferences. UII reserves the right to revoke certification for actions deemed inappropriate by the ethics committee.

I confirm that the above information is true.

I, the undersigned, apply to participate in the Certification Program for Upledger Institute International CranioSacral Therapy and commit to adhering to the above rules and regulations.
